For nearly three hours last night the Democrats talked over the tax bill with Lowell H Parker chief of staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation and Middleton Beaman chief house legislative counsel.

Both explained some suggestions they had prepared for administrative sections of the bill. One idea discussed was to allow recipients of inheritances a period of 10 years or more in which to pay their federal inheritance taxes so as to avoid forced liquidation of a kind considered undesirable. The recipients would be charged low interest during the period.

There also was talk about letting a father transfer to a son at a very low tax a share in a business which the son had helped to build up but which remained in the father's name.

There was in addition discussion about making the inheritance levies lower on wealth left to widows, sons and daughters than to others less closely related.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT RULES AAA IS ILLEGAL

Denies Secretary of Agriculture Has Power To Levy Processing Taxes

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, July 17 — Judge William H Kirkpatrick in the U S district court ruled unconstitutional today that part of the agricultural adjustment act which delegates to the secretary of agriculture the power to levy processing taxes.

The ruling was made in a suit by F G Vogt and Sons Inc, Philadelphia meat packers, who challenged the processing tax on hogs and asked for an injunction against its collection. The Vogt firm owes $378,147 in unpaid processing taxes.

Ten other meat packing firms petitioned the court in similar suits.

Seven tobacco companies, one paper manufacturer and a peanut importer also filed suits before Judge Kirkpatrick against the tax.

Argument on the meat packers' suits was heard at Easton Pa last week. F G Vogt Jr, general manager of the Philadelphia firm, contended the levy on hogs has created resentment among consumers to the extent that we can't sell the products.

Former U S Sen George Wharton Pepper, counsel for the packers, sought to bring out during the argument that the AAA program is subjecting production of the farm to administrative control.

Walter J Rothensies, Philadelphia area collector of internal revenue, was named defendant in the suits.

SEVENTEEN INJURED IN RAILWAY WRECK

Three Crews at Work

Three [illegible] wrecking crews [illegible] from Fort Wayne [illegible] Crestline [illegible] the [illegible] of the superintendent [illegible] said the main track would be cleared by 2 p m.

The train included [illegible] Pullman coaches, a [illegible] car and a diner. All of the injured persons were reported to [illegible] in the [illegible] coach and baggage car [illegible] immediately behind the locomotive [illegible] through the crash while others in the rear of the train who were awake at the time reported they felt only a sudden jolt followed by irregular jerkings. One described the motions of the derailed car in which he was riding as [illegible]. It felt like the [illegible] a flat tire.

All except the last car of the train were derailed but only the locomotive overturned. Damage to the passenger coaches with the exception of the first two was confined to twisted trucks thrown out of alignment by the disrupted tracks. The first two coaches were damaged slightly, several windows were broken and the corner of one next to the tender was crushed.

Hits Freight Cars

The derailment spread damage across two main tracks and two sidings. Before ending its 450 foot plunge the equivalent of one and one half city blocks, the locomotive struck four freight cars parked on the north siding of the main track which lie east and west through Upper Sandusky. The force of the impact threw the freight cars forward on their trucks and sent three of them coasting out into the main line to stop a quarter of a mile away. Force of the collision of the locomotive with the freight car forced the connecting arm of the freight car through the boiler of the locomotive, permitting the steam to escape without an explosion and possibly saving the engineer from more severe burns.

As the locomotive struck the freight cars the front day coach broken loose from the locomotive and tender plunged across the south siding and struck the loading platform of a freight station, tearing up a 100 foot section and slightly damaging the freight station building.

Stops Near Residence

The front day coach stopped 50 feet from the front porch of the Virgil Fox residence, two blocks from the street where the locomotive struck the truck. Fox's automobile was surrounded by wreckage including timbers that were thrown under it but the car was not damaged. A short distance from the place it stopped the front coach freakishly swung around a crossing light flasher post, permitting it to keep on flashing in the midst of a pile of wreckage.

Four hundred feet of the other main track just south of the one on which the wreck occurred were torn and twisted and both the north and south sidings were badly damaged. One of the twisted rails was thrust through the wheel of a passenger coach.

Among passengers aboard was Pedro Guevara of Santa Cruz, resident commissioner from the Philippine Islands to the United States. He was on his way to the Pacific coast to take a boat for Manila after making a business trip to Washington D C. Other passengers included S R Powell, president of the Loyal Packing Co of Chicago Ill; H I Schleif, secretary to Rep M K Reilly of Wisconsin; George Trautvetter, assistant chief engineer of the Edward G Budd Mfg Co of Philadelphia; D R Elmore of Washington D C; Dr John A Koch of Quincy Ill; A W Anderson of the Cudahy Packing Co of Chicago; H P Branson, secretary of the Transcontinental Passenger association of Chicago; Stephen J Hurley, Chicago attorney; Cong J Maguire, chief of the tariff bureau of the Western Passenger association of Chicago; [illegible] of Evanston Ill, and Mrs Mary Jane Kinsey of Omaha Neb.

Conductor Stays at Wreck

F O Dunlap of Ft Wayne Ind, conductor, suffered shock but remained at the scene of the wreck. In answer to his call for help Upper Sandusky physicians and [illegible] ambulances from Tiffin, Carey, Wharton and Upper Sandusky came.

Night Policeman Charles Schwabel was reported to be the first Upper Sandusky resident to reach the wreckage.

The train was reported here to be 26 minutes [illegible] behind when it reached Upper Sandusky.

While wreckage was being cleared traffic over the [illegible] lines between Crestline and Lima was rerouted through Marion over tracks of the New York Central and Erie railroads.

The Liberty Limited [illegible] makes its run between Washington [illegible] and Chicago [illegible] hours. It left Washington yesterday [illegible] 4:30 p m and was due in Chicago at [illegible] a m today [illegible] passengers [illegible] to Chicago.

NAZIS' STERILIZATION DECREE HITS CHURCH

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 17 — The Catholic clergy's objections to sterilization drew a retort from the reich today, a decree providing heavy punishment for persons spreading propaganda against the deprivation of procreative powers.

The decree issued by Dr Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, was regarded by Catholics as a blow against their church. They considered it likely to lead to further estrangement between the church and the Nazi government.

The German government, however, professed readiness to meet any criticism. Robert Ley, Adolf Hitler's trade union commissioner, told a meeting of students:

They call us pagans and heretics but this one fight in past years has brought more religion than all theology and all priests together.

Western Union Clerk Testifies Before Senate Committee

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 17 — Additional testimony that R P Herron, Ford salesman for the Associated Gas & Electric Co, sent several hundred anti-utility bill telegrams to members of congress signed with names taken from the city directory of Warren Pa was received by the senate lobby committee today.

It heard Miss Gladys F Loding, Western Union clerk at Warren, and others corroborate testimony given yesterday by Jack Fisher, manager of the Warren telegraph office.

Fisher said telegrams dictated to him for delivery to Rep Driscoll, Democrat, of Pennsylvania, and others later were found burned in the basement of the office.

Simultaneously the house committee investigating lobbying for and against the utilities bill heard Rep Brewster, Republican, of Maine testify he thought it had been [illegible] that if I had finally voted for the death sentence in the utilities bill there would have been no difficulty regarding Quoddy.

Brewster precipitated the house investigation by asserting that Thomas Corcoran, RFC attorney, threatened to stop construction of the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project in his district unless he voted to abolish unnecessary holding companies as desired by President Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT CLAIMS AAA WILL CONTINUE

To Be Observed at Least Until Final Ruling by Supreme Court

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 17 — Assurance that the AAA would continue to function at least until a final ruling by the supreme court on the validity of processing taxes was given today by President Roosevelt.

That was his comment on the decision of the circuit court of appeals at Boston yesterday holding the taxes unconstitutional.

[illegible] said at his press conference he thought it would be [illegible] if the AAA amendments [illegible] before the senate are passed [illegible] may be reached [illegible] altering [illegible].

He agreed with their general objective and has so informed congressional leaders.

The President turned over to the attorney general inquiries whether the AAA processing taxes can be collected in the jurisdiction of the Boston court pending the final decision by the supreme court.

The senate voted 40 to 38 yesterday to keep in the farm bill a provision permitting Secretary Wallace to fix a minimum first purchase price with the approval of 50 percent of the handlers of any commodity covered in the measure.

Chairman Smith (D) South Carolina of the agriculture committee lashed back at the attack on Sen Tydings (D) Maryland, who assailed price fixing by saying he would rather create wealth and feed the people on plenty than create scarcity and feed them on something else.

LIND WILL TACKLE STRIKES IN TOLEDO

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O, July 17—Ralph A Lind, director of the Cleveland regional labor board, will head the industrial peace board designed to diminish labor discord and strikes in Toledo.

Lind, who has brought about many strike settlements in the Cleveland area, was named last night by Edward F McGrady, assistant secretary of labor. McGrady outlined his Toledo peace plan to a group of industrial and labor representatives and helped work out some of the details of its operation.

The board will consist of nine members representing industry, nine representing labor and Lind, who will represent the labor department. Lind said he believed the board offers great possibilities to prevent strikes.

The plan naturally will depend upon the whole hearted cooperation of the industrial and labor leaders, he said.

Each group of nine on the peace board will have a chairman. When a strike is threatened the general chairman (Lind) will call the chairman representing labor and industry in for a discussion and each group will choose an equal number of mediators.

The mediators will meet with representatives of the concern involved and labor leaders and will attempt to suggest a fair plan for avoiding strike. If they are unsuccessful they will report back to the general chairman, who with the two group chairmen on the board will decide whether to appoint more mediators or refer the controversy to the board.

BECK EXPECTS AAA TAX TO BE BANNED

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, July 17—Former Congressman James M Beck of Pennsylvania today told the American Bar association that it seemed probable the supreme court will rule the processing tax a clear violation of the constitution.

Declaring that nearly a billion dollars have been taken from one class of the community by the secretary of agriculture for the benefit of another class, the former solicitor general said: If the law shall be hereafter invalidated what redress will the processors have? Can the farmers be made to pay back the benefits which they have received or is it conceivable that the government would ever repay the billion dollars?

The foreign divorce problem was brought before the association by Hamilton Vreeland Jr, professor of law at the Catholic university, Washington D C. He recommended uniformity of divorce laws to stop the chaotic social condition under which he declared a person may be legally wedded in one state but if divorced and remarried may be committing adultery and bigamy in the next.

ROBBERY FOLLOWED BY SPEEDY CAPTURE

Man Arrested 45 Minutes After Theft Near Marion Sentenced

Robert Shannon, 36, of Delaware was arrested by Delaware police last night 45 minutes after he is alleged to have [illegible] a cash drawer at the Sinclair gasoline service station near the Marion county children's home operated by Mrs Carlotta Maynard. She told police $8.75 was taken and said Shannon was unarmed.

Shannon was sentenced to 30 days in the Columbus workhouse and fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a petty larceny charge in municipal court here this morning. He was returned to Marion last night by Gene Geissler, deputy sheriff, and State Highway Patrolman Scott Radcliffe of the local sub-station.

Shannon was apprehended through the license number on his car taken by Mrs Maynard. A broadcast message from the bureau of motor vehicles in Columbus at the request of the sheriff's office here identified Shannon as the owner of the car. Delaware police Capt Flickshaum and Patrolman Young apprehended him at a filling station in Delaware approximately 45 minutes after the theft, Patrolman Radcliffe said.

Deputy Geissler quoted Mrs Maynard as saying Shannon drove into the service station about 6:20 p m and asked her to put water in the radiator of his car. While she was getting the water he was in the station and apparently obtained the money from the cash drawer at that time, she said. She became suspicious and jotted down his license number and when she found the money gone contacted the highway patrol sub-station here.

WORKS UNIT ALLOTS OHIO $10,766,129

WASHINGTON, July 17 — The advisory allotments board approved a $10,766,129 works relief program for Ohio yesterday and sent it to President Roosevelt for his decision. The program includes 1,494 projects.

It was estimated roughly that the Ohio allotment, if finally approved, would provide jobs for 15,000 persons. Federal relief officials have started to reduce the monthly direct relief allotments for Ohio and it was understood that the direct relief appropriation for the state cut this month would be reduced 50 per cent next month. The monthly allotments have amounted to approximately $8,000,000.

RAIL FARE CHARGES MAY BE DECREASED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 17 — A sharp cut in railway passenger rates was recommended today to the interstate commerce commission by one of its examiners after a lengthy investigation.

In a report Examiner Irving L Koch suggested as a reasonable maximum future fare pass a rate of two cents a passenger mile in coaches and three cents in Pullmans.

The present rate described as unreasonable is 3.6 cents a mile.

Action by the full commission on the recommendations will be taken in a few months.

The report found the Pullman surcharge to be unreasonable and recommended its elimination.

Extra fares charged for extraordinary and supplemental Pullman service were held not to be illegal or improper.

Before action is taken by the commission on the recommendations further hearings will be held by the full commission beginning Oct 3.

Club Hears How Writing Reveals Character Traits

[illegible] plified many of the major peculiarities and distinctive features of handwriting which serve as [illegible] dices to character. Crossing of the letter "t" was discussed as one of the most significant indications of a writer's personal traits. Use of a short cross line, he [illegible] explained, denotes force and ambition; a long sweeping line is a sign of an enthusiastic nature which is likely to result in success and achievement. A short cross line before the vertical section of the letter is an indication of procrastination and a cross line placed after the vertical section denotes a tendency to rush ahead in business and other undertakings without forethought. A cross line extending downward is taken to indicate a domineering spirit and the same downward line with an arrow point shows a tendency to be sarcastic. A flourish cross line classes [illegible] the writer as [illegible] [illegible] ed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] dence of how this phase of the science is [illegible].

Not Mere Theory

This method of character analysis has a sound physical and psychological foundation, Mr. Barnet declared [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] connection between the fingers and mental processes [illegible] the body [illegible].

He recalled that a large Chicago concern called upon him once for an analysis of the handwriting of a man who was being considered for an important executive position. Although the [illegible] report classes the man as having pronounced characteristics of dishonesty, he had been so highly recommended otherwise that he was given the position. A few years later he absconded with $35,000 and is now serving a penitentiary sentence, Mr. Barnet said.

Another [illegible] from Mr. Barnet's experience concerned a Pittsburgh corporation which had been losing [illegible] money through theft apparently committed by some employe who managed the details so skillfully that his identity remained unrevealed over a long period of time. Mr. Barnett was given specimens of all employes who had access to the company's funds, approximately 50 of them, with a request for careful analysis. He reported three as showing indications of tendency toward dishonesty. Then he was asked to name one of the three whose questionable traits were most pronounced. The result was Mr. Barnett stated that private detectives were assigned to watch the one suspect. In the end he was apprehended and a complete confession obtained.

Italy Faces Greatest Colonization Venture

Program of Expansion Is Planned With East African Colony, Eritrea, as Base.

The prospect of war between Italy and Ethiopia is worrying governments the world over. This article is the second of a series of four discussing the background, the expected conflict and the preparations for it.

* * *

BY ANDREW BERDING
By The Associated Press

ROME, [illegible] [illegible] the last [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Eastern Africa.

Italy [illegible] Eritrea and Somaliland [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the great nations. Their value [illegible] as has been reflected [illegible] by the attitude of [illegible] [illegible] of Ethiopia which deprives them of their hinterland.

In keeping the two colonies from dying economically, Italy has needed [illegible] of Abyssinia, either in friendly cooperation or [illegible] [illegible] since the first alternative seems impossible for many years to come, Italy is ready to try the second.

Concentration in Eritrea

Eritrea is the [illegible] of the two [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to the motherland, being 7,500 [illegible] [illegible] as compared with Somaliland's 5,000.

It is in this colony that the great majority of Italian soldiers and workmen are being concentrated. Eritrea contains [illegible] posts which are [illegible] level yet [illegible] to their utmost although the average production [illegible] [illegible] and 50 pounds a month. It also has many possibilities in iron [illegible] Its principal exports are coffee and salt, the principal imports [illegible] cloth and coffee (this latter for export).

In 1933 imports were worth approximately $14,820,000, exports about $5,174,000.

Colonization Limited

This colony still uses the Maria Theresa thaler, the silver coin of Ethiopia, in joint circulation with the lira, although several attempts have been made in vain by the colonial authorities to supplant it with Italian currency. The thaler is the sole means of payment in foreign trade.

Eritrea is the only one of the two colonies which offers any possibilities for colonization by white men, and that only in half of the colony amid the highlands. The principal port, Massaua, is unhealthful, but the capital, Asmara, at 7,000 feet altitude, has a good climate for Europeans.

Visitors to this colony say that it is now unrecognizable. Wooden cities reminiscent of the development of the west in the United States have sprung up over night as tens of thousands of soldiers and workmen have poured into the colony. It is a common belief that the workmen and many of the soldiers later will receive remunerative offers to stay there and in Ethiopia as permanent colonists.

Somaliland Largely Desert

Somaliland is of far greater extent than Eritrea, but owing to its position closer to the equator and to the fact that it is largely desert, it is of less importance commercially. By far the largest production is of bananas, all of which go to Italy. In 1933 close to $1,000,000 worth of bananas were sent to the motherland.

Exports in 1933 were about $2,507,000, imports about $3,837,000.

Eritrea is much more developed from an engineering point of view than Somaliland, with railroads, cement roads, aqueducts and other [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Black Widow Spider

OF LATE we have heard much about the most dreaded of insects. I refer to the poisonous spider known as the black widow. This spider is found throughout the country, but is more common in California and the south. Its bite is extremely dangerous.

The black widow is known also as the black spider and shoe button spider. It is a violent insect. The female of the species is more dangerous than the male.

The black spider is a large shiny insect with a spherical body and long, slender legs. On the under surface is an hour-glass shaped red or yellow spot. The top surface is usually marked by one or more small red dots.

The spider has a poison sac containing a considerable quantity of venom like that of a rattlesnake. It is an insect that should be carefully avoided.

The victim of this spider bite becomes seriously ill, complaining of severe pain all over the body. The pain may be so severe as to cause complete collapse. There is swelling at the site of the bite. Sometimes there is burning of the soles of the feet as well as headache, dizziness and ringing in the ears. Nausea and vomiting are other symptoms.

In children the symptoms are more severe and the condition more serious. In young children convulsions quickly develop and then are difficult to control.

In case of spider bite medical attention should be sought immediately. In former years strychnine was used in its treatment. Today blood serum obtained from persons who have recovered from the black widow bite is given the victim. In severe cases tetanus antitoxin is sometimes administered.

Iodine should be immediately applied to the site of the bite. Then the patient is put to bed. The sufferer should be encouraged to drink water. If the pain is extreme a hypodermic or strong sedative will be given by the doctor.

Alcoholic drinks should be avoided. I mention this because whisky is often given as an emergency measure. It has been found that giving alcohol is entirely wrong. Indeed, many fatalities have been traced to the excessive use of alcohol in the treatment of this bite.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest It just decays in the bowels Gas bloats up your stomach You get constipated Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour sunk and the world looks punk

Laxatives are only makeshifts A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up Harmless gentle yet amazing in making bile flow freely Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name Stubbornly refuse anything else 25c.

But he was [going] to do [illegible] well out of it. He was going to get everything he could out of Albery. This flight after two years had been like the taste of blood to a tiger and it was [illegible] Albery that he could continue his career.

Laurie was alone in the [illegible] room when Rex came back.

"Gladys told [me] you were here," he said. Her voice was cold but she took an involuntary step forward as her eyes met his. "You might have let me know."

"I'm sorry. I didn't think of it," he answered. His voice was rough. "I'd clean forgotten that your sister was here and that I ought to do the proper thing. But after all it will make things easier for you for her to know from the first that I'm an unmannerly boor."

Her voice was withering.

"I've had enough of it. You've covered yourself with glory again, haven't you? Mr Albery thinks the world of you. Your position with him [is] quite safe. We can make an end of it now, can't we?"

"That was the last question you asked me before I went to Africa," he reminded her. "You seem to think of nothing else."

"Why should I? It was our bargain, wasn't it?"

"Yes—" And then all in a moment he looked at her and she was quite different. She was not the same girl. He could not explain it, he did not understand. But for the first time he saw her blue eyes soft and dark like sapphires and her glossy chestnut hair and he knew that she was beautiful, desirable, wonderful. And he said to himself "But I don't want to make an end of it."

And his eyes held Laurie's and strangely enough it was the same with her. She saw him for the first time, his strength, the fine lean poise of his head, the deep compelling gaze of his grey eyes, the sudden pulsating humanity of him when he smiled. She saw him splendid, wonderful—the most wonderful man in the world.

And she said to herself "What's the matter with me? He hasn't changed. He's Rex Moore—no he's the Rex Moore I d[r]eamed of. I [illegible] I wan[t] [illegible] I want to say w[ith] him. I don't want to go away—"

And b[illegible] a woman [illegible] was more [illegible] when [illegible] Laurie [illegible] was a [illegible]

In [illegible] she go[t] a bu[s] [illegible] on [illegible] down [illegible]

He put [out] his hand but she brushed past him. She was shaking in every limb. She was [illegible] of [illegible] when he [illegible]

But Laurie [illegible] tell you.

Why, even [illegible] was [illegible]. It was warm [illegible] to him. It [illegible] her [illegible]. There was only one thought in her mind—to [illegible] this madness for him.

"Tomorrow will do," she [illegible] lightly. "Honestly I'm tired. We can talk much better in the morning."

Through the long sleepless hours of the night Laurie said to herself "I [illegible] be [illegible] and [illegible] in love with him. [illegible] should I? What would he think? How he would laugh. It would not appeal to his [illegible] sense of humor that I should end up by falling in love with him.

"It will be all [illegible] in the morning," she comforted herself. "It must be this [illegible]. Of course it [illegible] all [illegible]. My nerves are [illegible]. When we separate there's Mr Steele waiting for him. Of course he'll marry her. Look what she can do for him with all her [illegible]. He'll be quite independent of Mr Albery, of everybody. The first thing he did when he got back was to go to see her."

And so on round and round in a circle, the same thought all merging into the memory of Rex Moore's voice that had suddenly caught her heart saying — "But Laurie I've got a lot to tell you."

Rubbish. What could he have to tell her?

With Rex Moore it was different. To begin with he was physically and mentally exhausted after his arduous flight and he slept quite a good deal.

But when he did wake [illegible] now and then and especially after dawn his thoughts did run on somewhat the same lines as Laurie's although he was not so shattered as she was by the discovery but more angry with himself.

"Might have made a fool of myself," he reflected. "What ever would she have thought? That I was crazy, no doubt. I think I am. But there it is. I believe I'm in love with her. How ridiculous. She hates the sight of me."

* * *

And so on and so on, the same thoughts all merging into the memory of Laurie's face, seeing it as if for the first time—the soft blue eyes, the loveliness of the little trembling smile, the sudden appeal to his manhood, the fierce desire to take her in his arms. And then the blankness when she hurried out of the room with light careless words of rebuff like a slap in the face.

Well, anyhow, he hadn't given himself away.

Presently he was splashing in his cold bath and planning to spend the whole of the day on the last of the articles for the American newspaper.

He had written all the others while on his trip waiting for the rescue party to fetch the missing airmen. He had had no sleep for two whole nights. When this one was written he would be able to pay back half the money Albery had lent him. That would give him a freer hand.

As to Wanda Steele and his debt to her, he would have to find some way of settling that.

His discovery that he had fallen in love with the girl who was supposed to be his wife therefore had undoubtedly altered his outlook on life but it had not altered his world as was to be the case with Laurie.

Laurie came into the dining room when Rex had just finished his breakfast. She looked very smart and cool in her neat dark blue office attire and she seemed to be in high spirits although her eye had a somewhat fixed expression.

Gladys had gone to rehearsal in Finsbury park where they were opening in another week's time. While they were in the nearer suburbs she was staying in the flat but later when they went farther afield the troupe would have to live in lodgings again.

Laurie had had her breakfast with her sister an hour ago. Rex had been for a run around Pattersea park before his [illegible] as was his custom.

"Well, you said we could talk better in the morning," he said. "Have you time now?"

"If you like. I am not due at the office for three-quarters of an hour."

That touched him on the raw, as from now onwards every reference to her association with her employer must do.

"I understand you had something you wish to discuss," he said gruffly.

His voice and manner reminded her of the man in the train the first day they had met, and it came to her more [illegible] from that moment the space had been [illegible] from her being that was [illegible] a slight and that made her furious and miserable at the same time.

Yes, it was true. Morning had changed it. She was mad. He mattered more to her than anything in the world.

Tomorrow Rex and Laurie try to plan their future.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Captured Intruder Gives Indication of Knowing Madge

I THINK Katherine must be in the kitchen by now," I said in answer to Dicky's question as to where we could get hold of my kinswoman for a confrontation of the man who had climbed the rose trellis and frightened Mary—and who in turn had been frightened by her.

"You'd better hurry if you don't want any delay in her journey to the bungalow with us," I told him. "She said she was going down to prepare Faith's food for the trip and she won't want any interruption of that process."

"Then put wings on your tootsies, my sweet," Dicky gibed, grasping me by the arm and rushing me to the door. But when he threw it open he halted in mid-air as it were, for Katherine with empty jars in her arms was just coming down the stairs.

"Ahn me proud beauty," Dicky exclaimed. "We've caught you in time. Before you get coiled up in the process of infant diet come in here and listen to as choice a dish of beans as was ever ladled."

"If we're to start at daylight," Katherine said doubtfully, regarding the jars, "I haven't a minute to spare."

Can Delay Start

"But you don't have to start at daylight," Dicky rejoined. "That's part of the news, or rather a result of it. You can take an extra half hour, an hour or even longer if you wish."

With meticulous precision Katherine set down the jars upon the nearest table.

"That's good news," she said crisply. "Now if you'll tell me we don't need to go until after Faith wakens, I shall call down blessings upon your head. She wakens very early, as you know.

"Rain or shine, Sundays and holidays are all the same to that young woman," Dicky commented in rueful reminiscence. "But there's no need now for your going before she wakens, so come into our parlor, pretty little fly, while this spider spins you the same yarn with which he has already caught his wife."

He held the library door open with a flourish, waved us inside and then with the door closed told Katherine of the capture of the man believed by us to be Jack Leslie.

"If you can identify him as the man who stopped you on the street of Bridgehampton and asked for Marty," Dicky said, "and if Madge can identify his voice, we'll have a basis for accusing him of being Jack Leslie. I'd like to have that little thing established before you leave, for if I'm not mistaken there are one or two old matters hanging over the gentleman's head which will take up his time even if he beats the present rap."

Go to Bungalow

"He's a bit dazed just now, but the boys are dousing his dome with cold water and his brain—courtesy title I assure you—will be able to function by the time we get over to the bungalow."

"I'm ready to go whenever you give the word," Katherine said, and I nodded my acquiescence to the [illegible].

"Come along then," Dicky said and he rushed us [illegible] the side veranda [illegible] hand [illegible] was the bungalow [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that I [illegible] be undistinguished [illegible]

It has been true [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the first we saw as we went into [illegible] [illegible] was Jack Leslie.

I was [illegible] that his figure [illegible] [illegible] were [illegible] [illegible] when I came into the room.

Whoever he was, this bearded disguised man, he knew me, and [illegible] was wavering. It was suddenly borne upon me between [illegible] his identity upon the [illegible] in the other [illegible] to preserve the fictitious personality he had built up with [illegible] care.

Of course I [illegible] that his half-dazed [illegible] was responsible for the impulse to reveal his identity. He had not expected to be caught in his descent from the trellis; he had been [illegible] by the rough treatment [illegible] had received as a result. His pride and his nerves [illegible] were sadly shaken. Whether his [illegible] impulses or his common sense would [illegible] him for the next few minutes I [illegible]

13 FROM MARION AT RAINBOW MEET

Annual Convention Draws 2000 to Washington D. C.

Thirteen Marion residents were in Washington, D. C., over the week end attending the annual convention of the Rainbow Division Veterans.

W. M. [illegible] of East [illegible] st., [illegible] president of the Ohio Rainbow Veterans, Mr. [illegible] and Mr. and Mrs. James Uline returned to Marion yesterday morning. Leland J. Whitney of Cleveland, a member of the unit of which Marion Rainbow men are members, was elected a national vice president. Col. Ruby D. Garrett of Kansas City, Mo., was chosen to succeed M. Manning Marcus as national president. The reunion next year will be held in Kansas City.

More than 2,000 members and their wives attended the convention and Ohio had the largest representation of any [illegible].

General Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, on Saturday night addressed the veterans, and in a fiery address said "There is little we have which has not been achieved by armed forces. Unless we are prepared for the next war we shall perish."

MARION OFFICE PUTS 75 ON JOB IN WEEK

And So Are We

[illegible] congress [illegible] had [illegible] says Sen. Copeland, doctor, [illegible] of New York and a congressman of 12 years standing. We are tired.

Sen. Copeland speaks of [illegible] nerves, lack of power and [illegible], restlessness. Those symptoms are not peculiar to congressmen. If they are tired of trying to make sense out of President Roosevelt's program so are their constituents.

There is a time to stop, a time to say let's get some rest and tackle this job again when our minds are clear. The most important political question of the moment is whether or not that time has come for congress.

The question can not be determined by congress, however. It is only nominally independent of President Roosevelt. He must decide whether it is more expedient to push his program now or wait until the next regular session.

The President's physical health, according to observers, is as good as ever. But is it not reasonable to believe Mr. Roosevelt too is tired and confused? He is no more a superman than the legislators who with only a fraction of his responsibilities are said to be too tired to do clear thinking. A breathing spell might make his problem seem easier, too.

What's Being Investigated?

Two congressional investigations of lobbying in connection with the anti-utility holding company bill are being conducted at a cost of many thousands of dollars. What's being investigated?

Apparently probers are trying to find evidence of undue influence on congressmen either by the Roosevelt administration or the utilities. What, under the circumstances, would constitute undue influence?

The Roosevelt administration has assumed the right to attack a private industry. It has used its enormous political influence freely to get the cooperation of congressmen and it has drawn heavily on public funds.

The electric power industry has assumed the right to defend itself against the Roosevelt administration. In doing so it has spent a great deal of money. Some Americans seem to believe it does not have a right to defend itself in this or in any other way.

It seems noteworthy, however, that the electric power industry has gained friends through the circumstances of the Roosevelt administration's attack on it. Apparently that attack struck at something more vital than the factors in the power issue.

It seems to have threatened a principle deeply rooted in the national way of thinking, that attack justifies defense. Lobbying, which is a method of defense as well as of attack, is more likely to command tolerance when used for defense than when used for attack. If it be the hope of the investigators to condemn the utilities by proving they defended themselves, they have mapped out a hard campaign for themselves. Every private business which is afraid of an attack from the Roosevelt administration [illegible] necessarily is interested in preserving the right to defend itself against the tremendous power of a government whose appetite for control apparently has no limits.

Soldiers Are Difficult

[illegible] of a difference of opinion between Premier Mussolini and his generals are [illegible]. Soldiers are difficult fellows [illegible] along with or without [illegible] calls them to enforce his [illegible] he makes them strong [illegible] be effective he has the job [illegible] them on his hands. [illegible] good deal like having a [illegible] admiral [illegible] the same [illegible] please the [illegible] case he [illegible] case the [illegible] government [illegible]

[illegible] to show [illegible] Premier Mussolini as a statesman knows he has a chance to get what he wants [illegible]. Hence the rumors of a difference of opinion between him and his generals. As practical men they are [illegible] of pointing out development of a war machine im[illegible]

Ice Breaker

[illegible] goods and services [illegible] to increase [illegible] the $[illegible] [illegible] it has contracted for the [illegible] the agreement has little commercial [illegible] as an ice breaker.

It is Russia's announced policy to strive for economic independence. The prospect is for a decreasing rather than an expanding foreign trade. The $11[illegible],000,000 worth of goods and services which the Soviets purchased from the United States in 1930 in the midst of the first five year plan represents a peak of trade which neither nation can expect to scale again.

For Art's Sake

Artists too must eat and that is why the civil works administration created a special project for their benefit. More than 3,600 artists received $1,184,748.32 for pictures, statues, etchings, wood cuts and lithographs which were turned over to the federal government for disposal.

The CWA project was completed a few days ago when the last of the works of art was handed out. Not one of the 15,663 products made possible under the project was sold. They were distributed free among congressmen, government officials, schools and universities. Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, plans to repeat the project as part of the work relief program. More works of art by several thousand artists drawing from $35 to $94 a month will be distributed by Mr. Hopkins.

For years artists have contended they should be subsidized by the government. The fact there were not enough private patrons to go around, they reasoned, should not be permitted to handicap development of a strong national art movement.

When times were good the artists didn't get to first base. But when millions of their brethren were reduced to the starving artist level of living the artists gained sympathizers. A million dollars isn't much, but the fact they have been given aid is everything. An art subsidy which provides free pictures and statuary to legislators and government officials will be a difficult institution to abandon.

A Sense of Importance

Psychiatrists understand the importance of flattery in cases of chronic morbidness. A man who believes he has no importance in the scheme of things is not responsive to suggestions of improvement.

Maybe psychiatry has a finger in the plan for a national directory in which will be listed the name and circumstances of every person in the United States. The idea has possibilities.

There will be a card index in alphabetical order. Card No. 1 will be something like Aaaaba Aaaba, we suppose. Think, for instance, of the glow of pride cast over some forgotten man by having his name filed first in the directory of the whole United States.

For millions it will mean that no matter how obscure they may be, no matter how discouraged, their existence is a matter of record in a filing case. Someone is interested in them, if it is only a government clerk. Even the Smiths and Joneses, those numerous tribes, will get a distinction they never have enjoyed in telephone books and city directories.

Compiling the national directory will be a large job, but a surprisingly small appropriation has been requested, only $1,801,915. It will come, of course, from the same place nearly everything is coming now, the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund. If it isn't enough there's plenty more. How could more be spent for a [illegible] purpose?

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The summer [illegible] dreaming about politics continues. The latest vision conjured up by political seers around the electric fans is that President Roosevelt may be defeated for renomination at the Democratic convention. This view seems to be widespread around the country. Apparently the wish of certain Democratic congressmen is the father of the thought.

Every practical politician knows it is next to impossible to prevent renomination of a President. He controls the party organization.

The dream fades when you start considering who could be nominated in Mr. Roosevelt's place. Senator Byrd? He has no organized political following. Huey Long or Gov. Talmadge? Their candidacies are so weak that even they know they have no chance. These names just about exhaust the possibilities.

The facts behind this situation seem to be: Some of the conservative and radical Democrats would like to get rid of Mr. Roosevelt at the convention and are trial ballooning the suggestion. They know his popularity would have to decrease to nothing before any formidable movement could even be started. The talk is being fostered mainly in an effort to influence his actions. Conservatives want to frighten him into going a little slower. Radicals a [illegible]

Strife

More trouble has developed between the White House and the house leaders over the revised Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage act.

The Frazier-Lemke crowd had 210 signatures on a petition to bring the bill up the other day. Co-author Lemke went down to the White House. Later the President was quoted in the cloakroom as saying that any bill which had 200 supporters deserved to be brought up for discussion at least.

But the nominal leaders of the house are agreed against the bill and not without cause. They (including Speaker Byrns and Rules Chairman O'Connor) do not see how the President could countenance such a bill after vetoing the bonus on the ground of inflation, because the Frazier-Lemke bill is far more so.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, July 17.—If President Roosevelt really wants to kill off the amendment to the banking bill which authorizes banks of deposit to underwrite and wholesale securities he won't have much trouble digging up a reasonable excuse. The treasury department and the securities exchange commission are both [illegible] the idea in principle but disagree sharply on one important detail. The commission argues that banks should accept the same legal liabilities under the securities act as any other dealer. The treasury insists with equal vigor that they shouldn't. It's a case of doctors disagreeing—which might logically end up by the patient being dropped overboard.

It should be noted that the big banks would benefit most from the amendment. It wouldn't make much difference to smaller [illegible] either way. Certainly the latter can't be expected to break their necks to put it across. This is the real reason for the lukewarm attitude of the American Bankers association committee, which chiefly represents second and third flight banks. If it will help at the White House to oppose this provision the A. B. A. is ready and willing to do so.

Bargain

Suspicious New Yorkers are beginning to fear that the whole subject of security underwriting was introduced mainly to divert attention from the [illegible] of the federal reserve reforms in Title II.

They point out that Carter Glass was responsible for bringing it up. And while they love Mr. Glass much more than they used to they still can't see him as terrifically solicitous about New York's welfare. So when he invites public interest to focus on a feature which obviously helps Wall Street more than anybody else they somehow doubt that his motives are pure and undefiled.

If their suspicions are correct this section of the bill will be thrown to the left wing boys with much hurrah boys while Glass' version of Title II slides through virtually unchallenged. Some Wall Streeters figure it would be worth while to take a public licking on these terms.

Grief

There is [illegible] one industry in New York which urgently wishes it had its code back. Fur manufacturers—especially the smaller ones—have been hard hit since the loss of the Blue Eagle's protection.

The trouble is that their code fixed certain terms of payment from customers which enabled them to cash in quickly on their sales. The customers—including department stores—obeyed the [illegible] because they were afraid [illegible] imposed for violations. The [illegible] knew exactly where [illegible] financially. But since the code was cancelled the same purchasers have been demanding credit for 70, 80, 90 days and [illegible]. The fur people have been [illegible]

Fractional

The securities exchange commission has a limited [illegible] of contacts among investment bankers and brokers whom it [illegible] considers when a new set of rules is being concocted. Security dealers outside the charmed circle are peeved quite [illegible] at this exclusiveness. They feel their views on the subject of regulation are just as entitled to consideration as those of teacher's pets and they can't see why the commission should ignore them so blatantly.

But the informed concede that there's no evidence of skulduggery behind this favoritism. The commission's floor trading rules are pretty generally accepted as fair—even by those who had no voice in their drafting. The restrictions on market manipulation now being worked out are expected to be as reasonable.

The commission is interested in the opinions of those who must operate under its mandate. But it obviously cannot solicit the ideas of every broker if it expects to accomplish anything within 50 years. Careful New York observers agree that its attitude all along has been practical and cooperative toward legitimate business—but not to the point of encouraging former abuses.

Climb

The prospect for fresh taxation is a bad [illegible] to everybody else but it's great medicine for municipal bonds. Recent demand based on the tax exemption feature—has driven the best grade of these securities to the highest price levels in 90 years and experts predict the top isn't yet in sight.

The municipals have staged one of the most spectacular climbs in security market history in the past two years. They reached a record low in May of 1933 when 20 of the best of them recorded the astonishing average yield of 5.69 per cent. Now they are setting records in the opposite direction. The average yield for the same group of obligations is currently only 3.50 per cent.

Lightly

For 1[illegible] months the air lines have been urging the bureau of air commerce—as a safety factor—to move their weather reports to a different wave length from their radio beams. Pilots depend a lot on the beams for safe landings in soupy weather—and it's no help at all to a mist-bound plane that's trying to sit down to have them interrupted for inclement forecasts. Insiders claim that a couple of real accidents and a number of close shaves trace directly to this interference.

But the bureau still has done nothing about it, although the only obstacle insiders can see is expense of a few thousand dollars in changing the weather broadcasting equipment. The bureau did agree to interrupt its weather stuff if a pilot in the air asked for a steady beam—but even this arrangement has not always been carried out.

CARDINALS NEARER TO GIANTS AS REDLEGS AGAIN WIN, 7 TO 5

Sam Byrd Stars as Cincinnati Takes Another from National League Leaders

The Cardinals [illegible] New York lead [illegible] they will have to [illegible] for the remainder of the season to go into first place.

Cards Climbing

Two of the Giants pitching staff are in the sick bay, and the great portsider Carl Hubbell isn't cutting the corners as he has in the past. Hal Schumacher has been pitching great ball but the Cincinnati Reds thumped him severely the other day.

Weigh this against the case of the Cards. The Deans have hit their stride. Dizzy leads both leagues in the number of games won and Willie Hallahan has come out of his slump to pitch some of the finest ball of his career.

Jess Haines pitched the Cards to a 2-1 victory over the Braves yesterday as the Giants dropped another to Cincinnati 7-5. Cantwell of the Braves suffered his thirteenth straight defeat although he held the Cards to seven hits.

Sammy Byrd who used to warm the Yankee bench went to bat twice with the bases loaded and delivered the blows that enabled the Reds to overcome the Giants. In the fourth with the Reds trailing 1-0 he whaled a double to clear the loaded sacks.

Again in the eighth with the Reds trailing 5-4 he hit a single to score two more runs and a minute later Riggs brought home another when Stout threw one wild. The Reds chased Parmelee to the showers in the seventh.

Pitchers Star

The Phillies shelled Roy Henshaw out of the box with a four run blast in the second inning to chalk up a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs ending their five game losing streak and snapping the Chicagoans string of eight straight victories.

Old Tom Zachary pulled some of his tricks from his aging satchel to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a [illegible]-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Johnny Allen returned to early season form as the Yankees leading the American League defeated the third place Chicago White Sox 2-0. The victory coupled with the defeat of the Tigers widened the Yankees lead to two and a half games.

Allen held his opponents to two singles and fanned nine to increase his strikeout record to 81 for the season.

The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Tigers 8-2 as Jimmy Foxx hit his seventeenth homer. The St Louis Browns won their second straight game from Washington 6-4 to square their series.

A sizzling [illegible] third base which rolled to deep left field and allowed Roy Converse to [illegible] broke up a close battle last night at Lincoln park.

The Forest Lawn aggregation took the game in their seventh inning rally from Epworth [illegible] 4 to 1 and moved a half game ahead of the Bishops in the [illegible] Sunday School League. The game resorted into a pitching duel between Maynard Snyder and Eddie Mautz with Snyder getting the best of the tussle.

The Bishops scored their tally on an EIPA run given to them when Lefty Harper overthrew third base. A double by Puppert followed by Jackson's single brought Forest Lawn their first tally.

Maynard Snyder was credited with 17 strikeouts and Seiter Bishop catcher was the only batsman of the losers to get a hit.

Presbies In Lead

The Presbies now hold a one game margin over the field but have two tough games ahead. Lee Street [illegible] moved into second place by tripping the Irish as St Mary has played one more game than the winner.

With the bases loaded the score tied and no one out for the Lee Street in the seventh Outfielder Anspaugh hit a fly to short right. Blocksom Irish second baseman went back after the pop the centerfielder and rightfielder moved in for a try and the three stopped allowing the ball to fall between them for a hit a score and the game.

A misjudged fly by Johnny Shrebe in the sixth enabled Lee Street to tie the score at 3 all after St Mary batsmen had gained a 3 to 1 lead in the fourth. Tommy Andrews drove in Francis Robbins with a double and Vinny Irvin brought Andrews home with a single. The Irish scored their first run in the second inning when two errors by Darnell Lee Street first sacker were followed by Shebee's single.

Lee Street evened the count in their half of the inning on a double by Wade Conkle and a single by Darnell scoring Conkle.

The first inning of the Presby Calvary tussle was a wild affair. The Presbies scored five runs in the first half of the frame and the Calvary batsmen came back to pole out six tallies. Freddy Vestal was taken from the box with two men retired and Don Lindsey went to the mound. Vestal went back to the hurling job in the second after Lindsey had pitched to one batter.

Reformed Forfeits

Calvary was able to get only two more hits after the first inning while the Presbies pounded out 16 to score 12 more runs. Milt Pohler connected for a home run and Earl Castner Don Lindsey and Bill Pohler each hit three base hits. Calvary scored its six runs on three walks an error a fielder's choice and four hits.

Without the pitching services of Maurie Whiteum the Epworth Seniors were at the mercy of the Baptists. Whiteum who is to pitch today in Columbus for Casco went into the field and behind the plate. An exhibition game was played between the Epworth No 1 team and as many First Reformed players as showed up for their game at Lincoln park.

M'CARTHY SIGNS TO RUN YANKS AGAIN

Given Two Year Contract by Col Ruppert with Team at Top

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK July 17—[illegible] Joe McCarthy will pilot the Yankees for two more seasons at least.

Col Jacob Ruppert owner of the New York team announced yesterday McCarthy had been signed for the seasons of 1936 and 1937 at the same salary he now is paid, understood to be $35,000 yearly.

The announcement dispelled the rumors of Babe Ruth mentioned as a possible successor to McCarthy who came to the Yankees from the Chicago Cubs in 1931.

Ruppert called baseball scribes into his office before the game with White Sox and told of signing McCarthy.

"I don't know that there is much more to say" he said "except that we are up in first place now and this is as good a time as any for me to show my confidence in McCarthy. He has done a good job for me. I'm completely satisfied with him and this is my way of showing it."

Ruppert said that there was no particular reason for signing the manager at this time except that he probably would not be in New York this winter and that he wanted to get things settled.

FUND SLASH FACES TEST IN MT. GILEAD

Soldiers Relief Commission Fights Appropriation Cut in Court Suit

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 17 — The first test case on the right of county commissioners to slash an appropriation for soldiers relief has been brought in the local common pleas court.

The commissioners here appropriated $2,000 for soldiers relief for this year after the soldiers relief commission had asked for $4,000. The members of the commission, John Cochran of Marengo, L. V. Ault of Mt. Gilead and Roscoe Dennis of Cardington, have filed suit in the court here to compel the commissioners to appropriate the full $4,000 as requested and Judge P. H. Wieland has issued a mandamus order to compel the commissioners to make the appropriation as required by a state law.

The law states according to the members of the relief commission that the commissioners shall appropriate whatever amount the soldiers relief commission deems necessary up to one-half mill on the total tax duplicate of the county. This the sum of $8,000 could have been asked for but only one-half was required and requested. The slash to $2,000 leaves the commission with an expected deficit of $2,000 unless further appropriation is made.

Benjamin Olds, Mt. Gilead attorney, has been employed by the soldiers commission to conduct the court fight. The commissioners have not yet complied with the mandamus order nor filed any reply to the suit.

If You Could See the Difference In MILK...

What a wholesome respect you would have for the purity and goodness of Isaly's milk if you could see what measures are taken at the Isaly plant for the production of good milk.

If you could see how careful your milk is selected, how competent city health authorities regularly and carefully inspect all milk purchased. Our dairy farms and their herds are visited regularly, all cows producing Isaly Milk are clean and healthy. All herds have been certified free from tuberculous by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Then you would see why Isaly Milk has an average bacteria count below 10,000 while the average for the city is 30,000.

That is why Isaly Milk has an average bacteria count lower than what is required for Certified Milk which costs nearly three times as much.

Make comparisons on the way milk is handled. Visit the Isaly plant. And of course, you can have Isaly's Milk delivered to your door every morning ... and with its purity sealed in the bottle.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE IN MILK, A DIFFERENCE THAT CAN NOT ALWAYS BE TASTED OR SEEN.

COUNCIL ASKS MAYOR FOR STAND ON GAS

more for their service I know that doesn t sound like a proposition that ought to be accepted without a fight But don t lose sight of the fact that this is an alternative to a source that is almost certain to result in establishment of a still higher rate—one that would increase the gas bills here $6 030 a month That would be $ [illegible]90 a month more than we feel we could settle for

The solicitor explained the situation that led the council committee in its series of conferences and negotiation meetings to recommend to council that the proposed rate now before council be adopted Some of the points he emphasized to the mayor are

Marion has enjoyed one of the lowest gas rates in the state throughout the 10 year rate fight period when it sought to have the present rates lowered The rate proposed by council as a settlement schedule is the one that 68 out of the original list of 75 cities involved in the old Logan case have adopted four of the remainder including Marion are negotiating for this rate and only two Mansfield and Athens have rates lower than the one proposed for Marion Mansfield was granted a slightly lower rate partially because it has been paying a rate higher than Marion s for the last 10 years and partially because the average annual consumption of gas by each gas consumer is much higher than in Marion and Athens was given favor because it is near the gas wells

Cites Cost of Fight

The company has filed a rate schedule with the utilities commission that would increase the cost of 5 000 cubic feet of gas by a margin of 87 cents whereas the settlement proposal is an increase of 50 cents for 5 000 feet In view of (1) the recent decisions and apparent attitude of courts (2) figures brought out during the Logan gas rate fight and (3) willingness of other cities to settle rate differences it is the belief of the committee that the company could go to the utilities commission and have the 87 cent increase put into effect here despite any city rate fight the city might attempt to make You must realize that it would cost the company about $30 000 to go before the commission in a rate fight for Marion and also would be expensive for the city Private engineers have told us they wouldn t step into a rate fight for less than $8 000 and that in addition they would charge $100 a day in court during the rate hearings

Here s another thing—Bucyrus the home town of Charles F Schaber a member of the state utilities commission who has been consulted by Bucyrus officials regarding his personal opinion about the gas rate controversy is getting ready to adopt the same proposed rates now before Marion s council As a matter of fact Bucyrus is in better situation to ask for a lower rate than Marion because the average consumption for each customer there is 64 000 cubic feet a year 10 000 feet a customer higher than Marion s 54 000

Company Has Been in Red

The United States supreme court has been allowing utility companies to make up to seven per cent return on their investment in recent decisions The gas company argued and the state utilities commission and the Ohio supreme court found their arguments to be correct that during the Logan rate fight the company has been losing money in Marion —actually operating in the red Using the valuation figures then approved by the commission and the court, the rate the gas company has asked the utilities commission to approve would give the company only a two per cent return Do you think the commission would refuse them two per cent? However, if the city could settle this on the rate now proposed by the council committee the return to the company for operation of its Marion plant would be less than two per cent.

"If Marion can settle on a rate the case won t go to the utilities commission. The company will start at once on a $200,000 construction program to increase the supply of gas here. It's not certain that the company will accept the proposed rate, even if council adopts it. The company previously announced that the rate [illegible] be accepted [illegible]

[illegible] earthy has indicated it might accept it

Mentions Public Criticism

Mayor Bolin pointed out that council and the administration might be criticized severely by the general public if the proposed rate is adopted The solicitor answered with the assertion that council and the administration would get more criticism if by turning down a 50 cent increase they permitted the company to put on an 87 cent increase into effect

Mayor Bolin then asserted I think more of a man or a group of men if they go down fighting than if they lay down at prospects of a fight I don t believe people would criticize us if we fought it out with the company and then had to pay the higher rate

Answered the solicitor That s all right if there s a fighting chance but every indication available points to a losing fight so far as Marion is concerned The city has no money with which to fight the case I don t like to recommend a higher rate but it looks to me like a case of take this or take worse

The mayor argued that the gas company s loss of revenue here in past years was due to the depression instead of rate troubles Everybody s been in the red for several years why should the gas company try to get out of the red by raising rates? Why wouldn t it be better to lower the rates and get people to use more gas

Higher Rates Probable

Solicitor Ochs answered that it might be better business for the company to lower its rates and increase consumption but he emphasized that the company instead of doing that is asking for higher rates and the commission and courts on the basis of action in former cases probably would be inclined to grant the higher rates

When the mayor asserted that Columbus is enjoying a much lower gas rate than Marion the committee pointed out to him that the average gas customer in Columbus uses 104 000 cubic feet of gas a year nearly double the 54 000 average for Marion Columbus would be expected to have a lower rate if those figures are considered It was pointed out

The mayor expressing his personal views said he feared officials might be doing an injustice to the people to grant a higher rate adding that I don t think we should give the company an increase for all we know about the situation I think we ought to leave the rates to the public utilities commission —it s supposed to have engineers at its disposal and it s supposed to look after the public s interests If they fail to do that the public ought to change the commission

WIFE NEAR DEATH WHEN FOUND IN ATTIC PRISON

Weights Only 70 Pounds After Five Years in Dark Garret Because "Husband Didn t Like Cooking

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA July 17 Grey haired and hollow-eyed her body wasted to 38 pounds Anna Van Cleve stared up from a hospital cot today and offered detectives her only explanation for five years spent locked in a garret prison with only scraps for food

My husband didn t like my cooking she whispered

She looked all of 80 years she is 48 when the detectives found her on a bed in a lonely third story room bereft of light by boarded windows and nailed down shades

Her eyes were sunken deep in her head and her skin hung on her bones Sores pocked her face and hands An old black dress was wound about her tacked with safety pins

She clutched bread crusts in each hand A cup of water and a bucket were on the floor

She was too weak to walk and was taken to a hospital

Two glasses of milk was all the food she was allowed but that seemed to strengthen her

She had raided the garbage pail for at least one ravenous meal while her alleged captors her husband William 54 year old window washer and his sister Catherine 57 were away from home the Van Cleves neighbors said

They never knew she was there they said until they saw wild eyes peering through slits between the boards on the windows

One neighbor Charles Osborn told detectives he tied food to a clothesline prop and hoisted it to her window after he witnessed her garbage pail raid but she was always too afraid to take it

[illegible] was [illegible] answer to Osborn s [illegible] as the detectives investigated they arrested Van Cleve and his sister
